

Power and Economy in Early Classic Period Hohokam Society: An Archaeological Perspective from the Marana Mound Site

This volume introduces the research design for archaeological and related investigations at the Marana Mound site, a set of related Hohokam compounds in southern Arizona, and summaries of major findings at this Early Classic Period center. The studies presented originated from student papers, theses, and dissertations as well as specialist studies resulting from archaeological field classes and field schools at the Marana site between 1990 and 2003. The studies offer valuable insights into the organization of Hohokam society as seen at this time period and in this particular locale.
