

A Tour Through Italy, by T. Martyn

This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1791 edition. Excerpt: ...of inscriptions; but the collection has been fold and dispersed. The attributes of the soul and body, by Andrea Sacchi! executed at large in the Barberini palace. Alexander visiting the tomb of Achilles, by Pietro Testa. The collection is described in two pompous volumes in folio, under the title of la _ Gulleria Giuffiniana. Bas-relief of Amalthea giving suck to Jupiter, one of the best in Rome. Bust of Vitellius. Bust of Alexander the Great, in black marble. Bust of Aurelius, in the same. Statue of Minerva, Greek sculpture. Marcellus the consul, sitting. An excellent goat. Statue of Faustina, the younger. A very large Vase, with bas-reliefs. Ceiling painted prettily in arabesque, by Zuccharo. Paintings. Naked Venus, by Tiziano. S. Paul and S. Anthony, by Guido. Christ with Nicodemus, by candle-light.; by Gerardo della notte. The palace of Prince Odescalchi, duke of Bracciano, is the least exceptionable of any modern building in Rome. The pictures which were once here are in France; the statues in Spain; and the gems, &c. dispersed all over Europe. The Pamfili palace is large and magnificent, the architecture by Borromini; the front towards the corfo by Valvafori. It may give some idea of the extent of this palace, to know that upwards of 4000 persons were entertained in it, when Prince Doria, the present possessor, received the archduke and archduchess of Austria, in the year 1780. The pictures are numerous, but many of them indifferent. This palace abounds particularly in landscapes-f. In I know not what was saved out of the wreck of this once famous collection. M. Dutens mentions a fine cabinet of medals and medallions in bronze; and a beautiful cameo in agat-onyx, six inches by four and an half, representing Alexander and Olympia,...
